

Education Saving Options Comparison Chart

	Registered Education Savings Plan ("RESP")	Non-Registered Account ¹	Tax-Free Savings Account ("TFSA")	Life Insurance (Cash Value)	Trust	Private Company Dividends
Cost/fees: 1) Set-up costs 2) Ongoing fees	Usually none Potential annual administration fee for self-directed plans. ²	Usually none ²	Usually none ² Potential annual administration fee for self-directed plans. ²	Usually none ² Cost of insurance (i.e., premiums)	Legal fees vary based on complexity. Maintenance fees vary depending on need for ongoing tax & legal advice plus annual tax return preparation fees. May also incur annual administration fees (e.g., trustee record-keeping responsibilities).	Usually none ² Usually none ²
Contribution limits	No annual limit. ³ But a lifetime contribution limit of $50,000 per child. Over contributions are subject to monthly 1% tax penalty.	No limits	Annual limit of $6,500. ⁴ You may recontribute any amount withdrawn starting January 1 of the year following the year of withdrawal.	Subject to policy's set limits.	No limits	No limits
Eligibility for Canada Education Savings Grant ("CESG")	Yes – 20% of first $2,500 contribution per year per child for a maximum annual CESG of $500 ⁵ ; lifetime maximum of $7,200. Additional government grants for qualified families. ⁶ If maximum contribution not made in a year (by December 31), unused CESG entitlement can be carried-forward subject to certain restrictions. ⁷	No	No	No	No	No
Age restrictions	No age limit to contribute. CESG grant only available to children under 18 years of age. ⁸ In addition, Canada Learning Bond ("CLB") grant available to low-income families until year child turns 15. ⁹	No	No age limit to contribute, but need to be of age of majority to open account (18 or 19, depending on province). Nevertheless, all Canadian residents aged 18 years of age or older accumulate TFSA room each year.	No	Any age: minor or adult child.	Children less than age 18 subject to "kiddie tax".

Education Saving Options Comparison Chart

	Registered Education Savings Plan ("RESP")	Non-Registered Account ¹	Tax-Free Savings Account ("TFSA")	Life Insurance (Cash Value)	Trust	Private Company Dividends
Income tax implications	Contributions not tax-deductible. Savings grow tax-deferred. ¹⁰ When used for educational purpose, withdrawals are taxed in the hands of the beneficiary or student (except for original contributions which are not subject to tax).	No tax deferral. All earnings taxable in the account holder's hands. Income attribution rules apply.	Savings grow tax-free. Contributions not tax-deductible. Can make tax-free withdrawals at any time.	Tax deferral of earnings inside policy during accumulation period. When policy ownership transferred to child/grandchild (age of majority), their withdrawals of excess cash value are subject to the child/grandchild's personal marginal tax rate. Death benefits usually tax exempt.	Income attribution rules could apply. Consult with your tax advisor for their professional guidance.	Children less than age 18 subject to "kiddie tax". Consult with your tax advisor for their professional guidance.
Ownership/control of original contribution	Subscriber	Account holder	Account holder	Policy owner. Ownership can be transferred tax-free from parent (grandparent) to child (grandchild) when they attain age of majority or after.	Trustee is the legal owner while beneficiaries have beneficial ownership. Trustee administers trust funds in best interest of beneficiaries in accordance with the trust document. Assets can remain under the control of the trustee after child attains age of majority subject to settlor's terms and conditions outlined in trust agreement.	Shareholder of private company.
Use of funds	To fund beneficiary's post-secondary education. If used for other purpose, withdrawal may be subject to adverse tax and government grant repayment consequences.	Any purpose	Any purpose	Any purpose	Must directly benefit beneficiary subject to terms and conditions specified in trust agreement.	Any purpose
Disbursement of funds for qualifying post-secondary program	If the beneficiary has enrolled in a qualifying post-secondary program: Contributions, grants, and income may be paid out. If the beneficiary has not enrolled in a qualifying post-secondary program: Contributions and income may be paid out, but the grants are subject to repayment.	Withdraw anytime	Withdraw anytime	Withdraw anytime	Trustee's decision as long as conforms to terms and conditions specified in the trust document.	No
Termination period	Must end 35 years after the year it was opened (40 years in the case of a beneficiary eligible for the disability tax credit).	No limits	No limits	No limits	With the exception of the "21-year deemed disposition rule", no set duration.	Children less than age 18 subject to "kiddie tax".

For more information, please speak with your BMO financial professional.

¹ Assuming non-registered account is opened in the name of the parent alone (i.e., no joint ownership).

² Varies by financial institutions and type of account.

³ Subscriber can make contributions to plan for 31 yrs (35 yrs if beneficiary has disability).

⁴ Contact Canada Revenue Agency or refer to your TFSA Room Statement for unused contribution room.

⁵ In order to be eligible for the CESG, the RESP beneficiary must be a Canadian resident. If an RESP subscriber or beneficiary is or expects to become a non-resident, a consultation with a tax advisor is warranted.

⁶ Higher CESG amounts apply to low and mid-income families and there is also a Canada Learning Bond ("CLB") for eligible low income families. In addition, residents of British Columbia and Quebec may also benefit from grant programs related to the RESP.

⁷ The maximum CESG annual carry forward is $500. For example, if there is unused CESG eligibility from previous years, an additional catch-up contribution of $2,500 can result in an additional $500 CESG for a total maximum annual CESG of $1,000 (i.e., based on a total contribution of $5,000, this would result in $500 CESG for the current year plus another $500 CESG for a prior year).

⁸ Subject to special eligibility rules for beneficiaries ages 16 and 17.

⁹ If eligible, CLB paid even if subscriber does not make a contribution.

¹⁰ Income can grow tax-sheltered in the RESP for maximum 35 yrs (40 yrs in the case of a disabled beneficiary).

BMO Private Wealth provides this publication for informational purposes only and it is not and should not be construed as professional advice to any individual. The information contained in this publication is based on material believed to be reliable at the time of publication, but BMO Private Wealth cannot guarantee the information is accurate or complete. Individuals should contact their BMO representative for professional advice regarding their personal circumstances and/or financial position. The comments included in this publication are not intended to be a definitive analysis of tax applicability or trust and estates law. The comments are general in nature and professional advice regarding an individual's particular tax position should be obtained in respect of any person's specific circumstances.

BMO Private Wealth is a brand name for a business group consisting of Bank of Montreal and certain of its affiliates in providing private wealth management products and services. Not all products and services are offered by all legal entities within BMO Private Wealth. Banking services are offered through Bank of Montreal. Investment management, wealth planning, tax planning, and philanthropy planning services are offered through BMO Nesbitt Burns Inc. and BMO Private Investment Counsel Inc. If you are already a client of BMO Nesbitt Burns Inc., please contact your Investment Advisor for more information. Estate, trust, and custodial services are offered through BMO Trust Company. BMO Private Wealth legal entities do not offer tax advice. BMO Trust Company and BMO Bank of Montreal are Members of CDIC.

® Registered trademark of Bank of Montreal, used under license.

All rights are reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced in any form, or referred to in any other publication, without the express written permission of BMO Private Wealth.